

The Hard Limits Audit

Identify your non-negotiable boundaries as a couple. These are the only rigid rules — everything else is negotiable.

How to Use This Worksheet

1. Sit down separately. Do not discuss beforehand.
2. Each partner writes their 3 absolute hard limits. These are the things that are 100% non-negotiable for you.
3. Come back together and share your lists.
4. Find the overlap — the limits you both agree on become your shared rules.
5. Everything else is open for discussion and negotiation.

Partner A: My Hard Limits

Write your 3 absolute non-negotiable boundaries. Examples: no exes, no mutual friends, safe sex mandatory, no sleepovers.

1

My first hard limit...

2

My second hard limit...

3

My third hard limit...

Partner B: My Hard Limits

Same exercise — write your 3 independently, then compare.

1

My first hard limit...

2

My second hard limit...

✓ Our Shared Hard Limits

After comparing lists, write down the limits you both agree on. These are your only rigid rules.

Shared limit #1

Shared limit #2

Shared limit #3

Shared limit #4 (if applicable)

Shared limit #5 (if applicable)

Notes & Discussion Points

Anything that came up during your conversation that you want to revisit later.

Write any thoughts, disagreements, or things you want to revisit...

Remember: Hard limits can evolve over time. Revisit this worksheet every few months to see if anything has changed.